Better Learning through Structured Teaching

Day One

On-site Registration and Continental Breakfast . . . 8:30–9:00-3:30

Day Two

Continental Breakfast and Presentation. 8:00–2:30

If you heard Doug Fisher in the fall at the Iowa ASCD conference then you need to hear from his partner, Dr. Nancy Frey, as she continues the work offered by Fisher and Frey on Gradual Release of Responsibility!

Better Learning through Structured Teaching describes how teachers can help students develop stronger learning skills by ensuring that instruction moves from modeling and guided practice to collaborative learning to independent tasks.

Join Dr. Frey for this two-day conference helping educators "Teach for Understanding" and leading teachers to challenge students to engage in a variety of thinking centered activities.

Power Strategies for Effective Teaching Seminar with a Focus on Non-fiction Writing

Day One

On-site Registration and Continental Breakfast . . . 8:30–9:00–3:30

Day Two

Continental Breakfast and Presentation. 8:00–2:30

Looking for a working conference that enhances your work with the Iowa Core? Please bring a team of teachers to this training to help ensure better instructional strategies in the classroom and help meet the "Characteristics of Effective Instruction" as outlined by the Iowa Core.

Teachers, instructional leaders, and administrators will discover, practice, model, and be able to replicate as many as 15 of the most up-to-date, effective instructional methods that they can begin to use in classrooms the next day. This two-day seminar focuses entirely on best instructional practices and how to select practices based on information gleaned from student work and data, including the successful use of non-fiction writing!

Participants will learn how to refine their collaborative processes and structures to better inform the selection of the best instructional strategies so they are implemented on a larger scale. Educators can use these strategies across the curriculum and with all grade and performance levels of students.
